Airline eyes Hancock for scheduled service

BY EDGAR PEREZ
Stennis International Airport is "definitely under consideration" to be added as a regularly scheduled stop on the route of Coastal Airways now operating between Gulfport and New Orleans.

Coastal this week will introduce into its fleet a half-million dollar DeHavilland Otter aircraft to meet "a definite need" for additional passenger space on its current flights, according to Jack Burke, treasurer and part owner of the airline.

Coastal's acquisition of the 18-seat aircraft comes just two weeks after the Natchez-based South-Central Air Transit (SCAT) terminated operations at the Gulfport-Biloxi Regional Airport. Burke said Coastal is considering "extending our route to make it more of a linear route" to encompass some of the areas formerly served by SCAT.

Bay St. Louis is among cities like Mobile, Montgomery, Birmingham, Panama City and Ft. Walton Beach formerly served by SCAT from Gulfport. SCAT dropped Bay St. Louis-Waveland from its itinerary several years ago. Sid Hallman, operations manager for Coastal, said he "can see a definite need for regular service at Stennis." (Continued on Page 4)

Opinion/Ellis Cuevas - Editorial

We all support shoplifters

See state law on page 4

Every time we make a purchase a part of it goes to support shoplifters. Shoplifting in our community seems to be on the increase, just like it is in the rest of the nation.

There was time when local merchants wouldn't prosecute shoplifters, being afraid of offending someone.

It now has reached the point that most local merchants are prosecuting all shoplifters caught, but they all seem to have the same problem.

When shoplifters are caught and brought to court only a small bond and fine is metered out, with the fines usually suspended.

The store employees and police officers seem to all have the feeling that it is a waste of time to prosecute, and we feel the same way.

We have made inquiries and there seem to be laws that make shoplifting a serious offense.

If the judges feel their state laws are not strong enough, let's get our legislative representatives to put teeth in the laws. As we have said before, we feel that the judges have state laws that will allow them to put stiff fines and sentences on shoplifters.

We feel our only solution to the problem is not to re-elect these soft judges. If the judges are appointed, make sure we don't re-elect any of the politicians that make the appointments.

The consumer cost mentioned as an add on to the price of food and merchandise is from one to two percent. Just think, if we spend $5,000 a year, we are supporting shoplifters by putting up $50 to $100.

We feel we don't have to tell you any more why these soft judges have to stiffen their sentences or be replaced. Just think how much money we all could save every year.

Grand Jury to hear Krishna shoot case

Gulfport trio involved

Shoplifting, 100 mph chase nets 16 citations for 3 women

Bay St. Louis and Waveland police leveled a total of ten shoplifting charges and six traffic citations against two Gulfport women following a 100-mile-per-hour chase along US-90 Thursday.

The women, who were also accompanied by a 16-year-old girl, are accused of theft of merchandise from National Food Store, Waveland; A&P and Winn-Dixie Food Stores, as well as Eckerd Drug and Walker Dollar Stores in Bay St. Louis, police said.

The adults were identified by police as Geannle Buckley, 27, and Beesie Nelson, 35. Police said the pair has been released on bond, and the juvenile turned over to her family.

Bond for the Buckley woman, driver of the late model car, was set by Waveland police at $500 for the traffic charges and $250 for shoplifting. Bond for Beesie Nelson in Waveland is set at $250.

In Bay St. Louis, bond for both is set at $500 each on four counts of shoplifting, police said.

Waveland police were enroute to a shoplifting call at the National store when an off-duty officer spotted the women fleeing the store in a luxury sedan.

The suspects traveled in excess of 100-miles-per-hour in their car in an attempt to elude police, before being stopped at the intersection of Main and Dunbar Streets in Bay St. Louis, police reported.

Officers said the trio was in possession of more than $411 in merchandise from the several stores when stopped.

In addition to the shoplifting charges, the Buckley woman is cited by Waveland police with speeding in excess of 100 mph in a 50-mile zone, two counts of running red lights, failure to stop at a stop sign, reckless driving, and failure to yield to siren and blue light.

In addition to Chiefs Donald Dorn and Douglas Williams of Waveland and Bay St. Louis, respectively, officers participating in the arrests were Dennis Tartavouille and David Harvill, both of Waveland.

Main St., US-90 overpass on 'Go,' Bennett states

by JAKE JACOB
Main Street renovations are on "Go," and we have been told of confirmation having been issued concerning our EDA overpass money, Mayor Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis said yesterday.

Concerning Main Street, the contractor, Williams Paving Company of Biloxi, is moving into his office (a little white house across from Anthony's Mens Wear) and his equipment is in the process of arriving.

Power poles are being relocated and crews are moving into a state of immediate readiness, according to Bennett.

A release from Congressman Frank Lott's office Tuesday confirmed the approval of some $60,000 to the city for the purpose of constructing an overpass at US-90 and Dunbar Ave.

The money constitutes a confirmation of the $15,000 in public works money given the city by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors earlier this year, and an additional $45,000 awarded by Governor Cliff Finch from the $15 million granted the state under the Public Works Employment Act of 1976 under terms and conditions of the Economic Development Act.

Bell rings in new rates

South Central Bell in Mississippi this week will begin a new, higher rate schedule based on a pending $46.9 million state-wide increase.

Local residential subscribers in the 467 exchange will pay a basic monthly rate of $10.57, according to Franklin Kyle, the company's district manager for Mississippi's three coast counties.

Commercial subscribers in the Bay-Waveland area will pay a basic rate of $28.57 with a maximum installation charge of $50, Kyle said.

The maximum installation charge for 467 residential phones will be upped to $25.50, he added. The state Public Service Commission has suspended the telephone company's rates increase request pending further hearings on the matter. The increase is the largest ever sought by the firm.

The company, however, has invoked a state law allowing imposition of the increase on customers after posting bond to cover any refunds due customers if any or all of the increase is rejected by the commission or courts. The commission has supported a bill to repeal the law allowing unapproved rate increases under bond, but the measure has died in recent legislative sessions.

Under the new schedule going into effect Monday, the average telephone customer across the state will pay an additional $1.93 to $3.33 for basic monthly service.

In Jackson, the rate for basic straight line, single black dial phone will go up from $9.83 to $12.72 monthly, a company spokesman said. Intrastate long distance call rates will also be hiked.

The Public Service Commission expects to set a hearing date soon to consider the South Central Bell request.

J. Kelly Allgood, a company spokesman in Jackson, said the rate increase is necessary to keep earnings high enough to support increasing costs of needed construction during the next few years.

Allgood said rates have remained unchanged since 1975 when the company last raised its rates, also under bond.

At that time, the company had sought a $44.5 million increase, but the commission only allowed a $29.7 million hike.

especially with the Navy moving into the area.

Faced with increased activity because of the SCAT departure from Gulfport, Hallman said, "We will have to feel our way for the next month, and then we will be looking at the addition of another aircraft to the fleet."

Hallman said expansion plans at Coastal which include Stennis International, are "under consideration."

"It is a possibility that within six months," Hallman said, that Stennis could be added to Coastal's schedule.

"We will have to make a traffic study in the Hancock County area as well as consider several other factors, including growth patterns there," Hallman continued.

Local officials concerned with air traffic are anxious to have regularly scheduled carrier or commuter airlines at Stennis.

"Yes, we would love to have a carrier in here," said Randolph Bourgeois, Stennis manager.

"We are always working toward that end, and would do whatever is necessary to accommodate Coastal," Bourgeois stated.

"Any carrier or commuter would be more than welcome," Bourgeois said, adding, "The navy is already beginning to use us more."

Wilson Webre, director of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, under whose auspices Stennis International is operated, said airport development here "is 20 years ahead of Harrison County and 10 years ahead of Jackson County."

"Harrison has the activity but not the facilities, we have the facilities but not the activity," Webre said.

"But we are oriented toward general aviation at this time and moving steadily toward accommodation or regularly scheduled service," he added.

"There has never been any good reason to believe the Port and Harbor Commission is not moving ahead with airport development," Webre stated in answer to criticism of airport progress voiced earlier in the week at a Chamber of Commerce board of directors meeting.

"We are moving ahead with every ounce of our strength within financial limitations to develop Stennis International into a thriving facility," Webre stated.

"We are letting bids, possibly Monday, on another $100,000 in road work at the airport, and also Monday we hope to file application for another $100,000 grant," Webre pointed out.

"But we try to keep an open mind, and if anyone from the Chamber of Commerce would like to appear before the commission to voice his opinions on airport development, he will be welcome," said Webre, a two-term past president of the Chamber.

Webre echoed the sentiments of Bourgeois on cooperation with any scheduled carrier or commuter airline wishing to operate out of Stennis International.

The new Coastal Airways craft is built in Canada by the DeHavilland Aircraft Corp. It is a short take-off and landing plane capable of taking off with less than 750 feet of runway and landing with less than 600 feet of ground run. It weighs six tons, is 54 feet long and has a wing span of 65 feet.

Webre pointed out that Stennis runways are currently 8,500 feet long. He said plans for 10,000-foot runways have been temporarily held in abeyance because of "problems" encountered in their development.

Coastal officials said the DeHavilland Otter's safety record and efficiency records have made it the most widely used commuter aircraft in the country.

Burke said the company will spend substantially less money maintaining the new aircraft than on the three seven-seat Cessna 402 planes it replaces. The Cessnas had been used by Coastal since they opened operations in Gulfport in 1976.

department said the vehicles, driven by Jerome and Eugene Harold Jones, 71, also of Orlando, collided as they were both headed east on the highway.

Capt. Ken Pell, also of Long Beach police, said both vehicles overturned. Police said Jerome, a former salesman for W.A. McDonald and Sons of Bay St. Louis, was traveling alone at the time of the accident.

Jones was reported not injured. He is the husband of the injured woman.

Pell said no charges were filed in connection with the accident. Jerome, a native of Orleans, Minn., had been a resident of Bay St. Louis for the past four years. He was a member of the First Assembly of God Church in Waveland.

The body was sent from the Riemann-Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis to Warrensburg, Mo., for services and burial in Knobb Noster Cemetery, there.

ministration (EDA). "The act provides federal assistance for construction of capital facilities and is based on a formula of unemployment rates and actual number of unemployed persons," Lott said this week.

The supervisors gained a $290,000 grant in June this year, opting to grant the Bay St. Louis money following a plea from Mayor Bennett for aid with the overpass.

Governor Cliff Finch made the $50,000 available from the public works money late July, in an action brought about at least in no small measure, through the activities and recommendations of his MIDAS committee in Hancock County.

Bennett said the grant confirmation gave the city $80,000 earmarked to the project, urgently needed to prevent elementary school children travelling to and from North Bay Elementary School from having to cross the highway twice a day. The city had previously managed to put in $15,000 to the scheme to match the supervisor grant.

He said the original overpass and bicycle path had been estimated at $127,000 but that instruction had been given his engineers, Burk and Associates, to modify the plan to the funds available, although he had not given up hope of obtaining further finances through one or other of several government funds.

"We won't know the exact cost until bids are received and then we will know what we must do," Bennett said.

Justice Judge Frierson denied the plea for dismissal, binding the defendant over to the grand jury.

No defense was offered at the preliminary hearing but following the original incident, Bico Kuyt, president and minister in charge stated the youths had been conducting what he described as "harassing tactics."

It appeared that a broken window causing rising temperatures inside the truck's cab had resulted in two of the youths riding in the back and two in the cab.

The injured juvenile told the court he had been squatting down, facing the driver when hit.

None of the youths admitted previous knowledge concerning the location of the Krishna farm, although all stated they had heard of its existence.

All denied any involvement in the training of a spotlight, the firing at, or driving into the Krishna Community, stating the truck had remained on the road at all times.

A member of the community called as a prosecution witness, later declared as being a hostile witness (permitting the introduction of leading questions by the state), testified she had observed the truck's headlights in the driveway and heard "shouting."

Denham, on conclusion of the prosecution's case, called for a dismissal of charges on the basis that the state had failed to connect-up the rifle to the defendant at the time of the incident; none of the state's witnesses had seen the defendant fire the shot; the witnesses had failed to prove the case for the state.

WINGED WARRIOR- Rusty Fountain, one of the mainstays of the d'Iberville offense, leaps over a fallen player on his way to one of two touchdowns he scored against Bay High Friday. Fountain, and his brother Grady, were the main scoring force of the Warriors in their easy 50-0 win against the Tigers.

Tigers blitzed again

Warriors bomb Bay High 50-0

by RANDY LANKFORD
The d'Iberville Warriors might consider changing their team mascot to a fountain. The Fountain's (Rusty and Grady) were certainly important to the d'Iberville team Friday as the Warriors ran their record to 4-1 with a 50-0 win over Bay High. The loss dropped the Tiger record to 1-4 and was the fourth consecutive shutout Bay High has suffered.

d'Iberville grabbed its first touchdown barely six minutes into the game when Grady Fountain went in from two yards out to cap a 54 yard drive for the Warriors. The drive went the distance in nine plays with Fountain or his brother Rusty carrying the ball on every play.

After the kickoff, the Tigers went to work at their 25. On first and 10 John Seilly, starting his first game for the Bay team, fumbled. Again it was Grady doing the honors on the recovery for d'Iberville at the Bay 36.

Bay High took the kickoff at its 23 and five plays and one penalty later punted from the 27. d'Iberville took over on its 49 and again marched down the field.

and racked up the first of only three first downs of the night before an interception by guess who ended the Tiger drive. Grady grabbed the ball at the Bay High 34.

d'Iberville kicks off, Bay High punts, Tim Gilmore intercepts for the Tigers, Tommy McAdams recovers a fumble for the Warriors. At the end of all that, the Warriors had a first and goal at the Bay High five. Rusty to the two, Grady touchdown. Brooks kick, 36-0, halftime. With 3:22 left in the third quarter, the starters had long since departed for the d'Iberville team when Eddie Allen, a junior running back went in from the four to cap a 48 yard, three play drive for the Warriors.

The touchdown was set up by a 38 yard pass from John Whitfield to Bobby Weaver. Both sophomores. The final touchdown of the night came with 41 seconds gone from the fourth quarter when Wayne Jones, another sophomore, went three yards. The TD came 31 yards after Keith Higgenbotham recovered a Bay High fumble. Bay High's only sustained drive of the night was too little, too late in the fourth quarter when Donald Ginn, replacing injured quarterback Dwayne LaFontaine, started the Tigers at their 24 and moved them to the d'Iberville 33 before a fourth down running attempt failed. The d'Iberville Fountains. Not bad. Not bad at all.

It took only five plays this time for the Warriors to score with Rusty going the final two yards.

Timmy Brooks booted his second PAT of the night to put the Warriors up 14-0 with 4:04 left in the initial quarter.

Grady went to the 42 on first down. Rusty to the 32. Grady to the 28. On the first play of the second quarter d'Iberville pulled a stunt and let Timmy Pyron carry the ball instead of one of the Fountain's. They shouldn't have tampered with success since Pyron fumbled. He grabbed his own miscue and made two yards to the 26. The Warriors' evidently looking for a new way to score, took to the air from there. Quarterback James Montgomery faked back, and just not to get too radical, he hit brother Rusty with a scoring strike.

The PAT was up and good and just 41 seconds into the second frame the Warriors were on top 21-0.

Bay High had the ball for six plays on the next possession

Adding a little showmanship to what was beginning to look like the runaway it eventually became, Montgomery flipped the ball to Pyron at the 25 on third and one. Pyron, instead of turning upfield, pulled up short and set up to throw. The senior flanker found Jimmy Lawrence in the end zone for the fourth d'Iberville touchdown of the night. When things start going right, they all go right. On the PAT attempt, the snap was over the head of Montgomery, who was holding for Brooks. Instead of bouncing around like it should, the ball jumped to Brooks, who scooped it up, ran to his right and found runningback Scott Davis in the end zone for two points. The Warriors led 29-0 on two plays that should have never

Gulfview, Waveland remain tied for lead

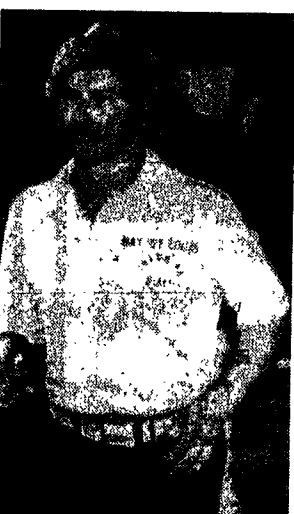

Gulfview and Waveland Elementary Schools battled to a 6-6 tie in their game last Saturday. The schools met for the lead in the Elementary Conference and came away still tied. In the second game of the day the Gulfview seventh graders raised their record to 4-0 with a 20-0 win over the Waveland team.

The fifth and sixth grade team now boasts a 3-0-1 record while Waveland carries a 2-0-1 mark. Considering percentage points Gulfview leads the conference. One of the Bulldog's games was a non-conference battle though.

Donald Graham carried nine yards off right tackle in the first quarter for Gulfview for his teams only score of the day. The PAT was no good and Waveland was down.

Waveland's score came on a 60 yard burst off right tackle still in the first half. Again the PAT was no good and the game ended in the 6-6 deadlock.

In the seventh grade game, Mark Santalla went 25 yards on a reverse for the first Gulfview score. The touchdown was set up by a key block by Phillip Seay after a blocked punt by Kevin James. Gulfview missed the PAT attempt. Jay Lee went around left end for nine yards of the second Bulldog touchdown of the day.

HEAD COACH Billy Rhodes trots off the field after seeing his team suffer its fourth shutout of the year. The Bay High Tigers fell 50-0 to d'Iberville Friday to give the team a 1-4 record. Rhodes hopes to add scoring punch to the Tigers who have only seven points for the season.

Hawks king of County

Rocks can't roll against HNC

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
Football has come of age at Hancock North Central with the Hawks defeating the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chows 7-0

Friday night. The Hawks now 4-0 for the season are the unofficial champs of Hancock County with an earlier shutout of Bay Senior High.

The game's lone score came late in the first quarter, set up by a long penalty against the Rocks that put the ball on the Rocks 17 where quarterback Vincent Adams pitched out to halfback Greg Ladner for the score. Rocky Cuevas added the extra point with Gregg Strief holding.

The Rocks offense was bottled up all night, the Hawks defense never let them pass their 20 yard line, yielding only 33 yards rushing and minus two yards passing.

North Central racked up 10 first downs to Stanislaus' three. It seemed to be flag night for the officials. Both teams were penalized for offsides many times. The Hawks and Rocks were keyed very high for the game. The only other, scoring, threat came as the first half ended with the Hawks driving at the Rocks 15.

Punting was an important factor in the game, Adams put one on the Rocks five yard line in the second quarter and Scott Senner dropped one on the Hawks eight yard line in the third quarter. Senner had eight punts for 38.6 average.

In the fourth quarter Gene Rogers of the rocks blocked a Hawk punt recovered by Stanislaus for no advance on their 40, after making one first down the Rocks had to punt. Denist Nelson churned some good gainers for the Hawks on offense and picked off a Rock aerial in the first quarter. James McKeough recovered a Hawk fumble in the second quarter on the Rock 49.

Coach Irvin Favre of the Hawks said that his defense couldn't have played a better game. His coaching staff should be given a lot of credit because the Hawks were able to do everything they wanted to do especially on defense.

Next week the Hawks move to Lumberton and the Rocks play host to d'Iberville.

DEFENSIVE STRUGGLE- Denist Nelson and Pat Necaise battle for the ball with the intended receiver Jay Rousseau out of the play. Necaise grabbed the interception for the Hancock North Central Hawks at the St. Stanislaus 49. A clipping penalty on the play cost the Hawks plenty of yardage on the play as they started from their 15. Penalties played a big part of the Hancock 7-0 win over the Stanislaus team.

OLA takes volleyball win

The OLA senior high teams swept two games from Biloxi Thursday in girls volleyball action. The 'A' team won it's match in two straight games, downing the Biloxi team 15-6 and 15-4. In the 'B' team game, OLA won 15-2, 7-15, and 15-13. The 'A' team raised it's record to 2-0 with the win while the 'B' team moved to 1-1 after losing it's opener to Ocean Springs. Head coach Susan Ferry cited Kelly Poolson and Margaret Spatorino of the 'A' team for their play in the win. "Kelly did a good job of serving and showed some good team play at the net," said the coach.

"Margaret made some good plays at the net and also did a fine job of recovering the ball when it was almost on the floor." On the 'B' team Michele Brown earned credit for her serving and Laurie Koch for her team play in the win. OLA's next game will be Tuesday at Tiberville.

White Cypress by Yvonne Ladner

There is a lot of activity as far as the churches in our community are concerned. By the time this is read the 3rd Annual Gumbo Festival will be in the final day of its activities and Shiloh Baptist Church at Necaise Crossing will have started their Revival. The Minister for this year's Revival will be the Reverend Revell Lee.

Our sympathies are extended to the family of Lavern Necaise of the White Cypress Community.

Get well wishes go out to all the sick of the area. These include Gracie Mae Ladner, Mrs. Celia Ladner, Larry Hoda, Mr. Zeno Hoda, Mrs. Christoph Martin and all the others we don't know about.

If anyone has any news they would like to get in this column, please call me by Wednesday night. My number is 255-1403. We would like to get the North end of the County covered by the Echo and this is one way to get started. Your help will be greatly appreciated.

Construction is scheduled to begin on the new Parish Complex for White Cypress-Necaise Crossing Catholic church on Monday, Oct. 3.

Annunciation

ANNUNCIATION SCHOOL NEWS BY PET COLLIER

The first P.T.A. meeting since the opening of school was held Sept. 21, in the gym. Rev. Austin opened the meeting with a prayer, followed by reports from the different fund raising committee chairmen. Sr. Joan Lorraine spoke to parents concerning some important dates and events to keep in mind. No classes were held at Annunciation that day to a Math Workshop the teachers attended.

A birthday celebration was held Sept. 22, for the students whose birthday was in Aug. and for those in Sept., cake and ice cream was served in the afternoon. On Oct. 5, the Annunciation football players will travel by bus to Milner Stadium in Gulfport for a game with St. James.

Mr. Norman's class displayed art projects of owls made of pine cones and felt. Sr. Francis-Maura's science class exhibited an interesting variety of nature specimens, along with the new Micro slide sets recently purchased by the school.

A special reminder that mass will again be celebrated in Annunciation Church for students in grades 1, 2, 3 on Oct. 4 and 8, Oct. 11 for grades 4, 5, 6, at 9 a.m. All parents and relatives are invited and encouraged to attend these liturgies.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Ladner was drawn to receive this month's free tuition. (congratulations)

Rev. Austin closed the meeting with a prayer. Please try to attend the next P.T.A. Meeting on Oct. 19, the school needs your prayers and support.

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

ORNAMENTAL HORTICULTURE FIELD DAY

The sixth Annual Ornamental Horticulture Field Day is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 6, at the South Mississippi Research and Extension Center in Poplarville.

An all day program packed full of information will be of special interest to persons engaged in production and marketing of ornamental crops.

Feature Speakers for this event will be Dr. Hugh A. Poole, Ohio Agriculture Research and Development Center, Wooster, Ohio. Dr. Poole will speak on "Cultural and Structural Practices that Conserve Energy in the Greenhouse." Mr. Jack Coley, Director and State Entomologist, Division of Plant Industry, will explain fully regulations that affect you as a Nurseryman and handler of pesticides.

An important part of the program will be devoted to Research Accomplishments at the Experiment Station at Poplarville. Participants will have the opportunity to tour the station and view firsthand experimental projects in progress.

FALL APPLICATION OF FERTILIZER

For many farmers, applying fertilizer in the fall is a good practice, especially on soils to be prepared in the fall. However, there are certain places where farmers should not apply in the fall. These include soils where erosion is a problem, soils with frequent overflow problems, and sandy soils where severe potash leaching may occur.

Phosphate and potash have given good results when applied in the fall, especially on crops such as wheat that are to be followed by soybeans. Nitrogen should not be applied in the fall for spring crops.

Fall prices of fertilizers are usually lower than spring prices and the cost can be charged to the 1977 crop.

FALL PLOWING

Fall plowing after harvest is suitable on mixed clay soils in Mississippi. Advantages of fall plowing include:

1. Burying stalks and debris so they will rot during the winter. However, residue should be left on top of soils subject to erosion.
2. Leaving the soil in condition to "mellow" from freezing and thawing.
3. Leaving more roots of perennials exposed so they will freeze.
4. Making it possible to get in fields earlier in the spring if the land is rowed up in the fall.
5. Permitting shallow cropland cultivation of rows for weed control and still conserve moisture for good stands.

CHECK FOR NEMATODES

Before you dispose of your old cucumber, squash and okra plants, check the root system for nematode injury. These plants are favorite hosts for root-knot nematodes. If the roots have galls or enlargements caused by root-knot nematodes, rid your garden of these tiny, worm-like pests before you plant another crop.

For more information, get a copy of Extension publication 483, "Nematode Control In The Home Garden." It's available at your local county Extension office.

INSECTS STILL AROUND

Insect activity is still heavy in late cotton and soybeans. Bollworm infestations are heavy in green cotton in the state, and podworms and foliage feeding insects continue to be active in young, green soybeans.

Insects are expected to threaten cotton and soybeans until crop mature. Don't stop control measures if your crop can still be damaged.

Soil erosion, sedimentation cited Mississippi threats

Soil erosion and sedimentation are seriously threatening Mississippi's agricultural productivity, according to a Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station (MAFES) scientist.

"It took nature hundreds or thousands of years to make a few inches of topsoil," noted David E. Pettry, Mississippi State University professor of agronomy and MAFES agronomist, "but, through erosion, we can lose it in a few days or even hours."

"Erosion," Pettry noted, "removes the most valuable portion of the soil for crop production and carries nutrients and fertilizers with it. Yields are greatly reduced. Soil rooting depth is reduced and water storage greatly diminished. The organic-rich topsoil can hold many times its own weight in water available for plants. Soils are extremely important in trapping and holding rainfall to prevent its running into streams."

Conservation Needs Inventory for Mississippi indicated about 67 percent of the 7,274,406 acres of total cropland in the state (4.9 million acres) needed treatment to provide adequate protection from erosion. Large acreages of forest, pasture lands and urban lands also needed conservation measures to reduce erosion. In the past decade, development and intensification of Mississippi agriculture have further accelerated soil erosion.

Extension Home Economist, Hancock County

Today ... SEVENTH ANNUAL FAIR

Home Economist's Notes

Most of you have heard of the unfortunate incident that occurred at the Fairgrounds on Thursday night but have you heard about the very positive events that went before?

The cooperation of Extension Homemakers Club Members, Senior Citizens, R.S.V.P. Members, 4-H Leaders, Fair Association Members and interested individuals was evident in the work that was done in the Exhibit Hall, Livestock Barn and Concession Stand. Putting on a county fair is a tremendous amount of back breaking work and my thanks and appreciation goes to those who gave their time and energy by helping.

We had 192 adult and youth exhibitors who entered 835 exhibits in the Exhibit Hall. The quality of exhibits was excellent. To me the purpose of homemaking exhibits is for those who view to get ideas for things they can make to enhance the beauty of their own homes.

If you have particular skills and talents, please share them with all of us next year by exhibiting at the Eighth Annual Hancock County Fair and Livestock Show.

Yes, I expect the Fair Association to sponsor this event next year. I believe that this years adversity will strengthen the participation of the residents of Hancock County. The Fair Association needs you! Please come to the Exhibit Hall on Oct. 3, 7:30 p.m., and join the Association. Yearly dues are $1 and I can guarantee you there is enough work to go around.

PUBLICITY CHAIRMAN INFANT OF PRAGUE CYO BY JOY NECAISE

Officers of the Infant of Prague Church Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) were installed at a special

Mass, 8:30 a.m., Sunday, Sept. 25, at the church.

During the mass the new officers pledged their intentions for the coming year.

A youth choir is being formed at Infant of Prague Church, with practices being held from 5:45 to 6:30 p.m., Monday evenings.

All youth of the parish is invited to choir practice.

Ag Affairs by Ed Blake

Mississippi timberland owners and trappers have formed an agricultural cooperative association to bring this state into a stronger position in one of this continent's oldest enterprises - fur marketing - while simultaneously lessening timber losses due to beaver over-population.

Two years of research and planning culminated last week in Jackson with a meeting in the Woolfolk State Office Building where state timberland owners and trappers voted to charter the Beaver Management and Marketing Association. Initial stock in the cooperative was sold and a temporary board of directors was elected.

Ralph Redditt of Leflore County chaired the organizational meeting and presented specialists involved in the study of the beaver situation in Mississippi.

Dr. Dale Arner, head of the Wildlife Fisheries department of the Cooperative Extension Service, pointed out to the group that the beaver population in the southeastern United States has built up to epidemic proportions and that this area lacks incentive to keep beavers under control by trapping due to disparity in bait prices received in Mississippi. State trappers receive from about 30¢ per pound of pelt compared to 100¢ per pound in northern states and Canada.

The Wildlife Authority, Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Forestry, is currently studying the beaver situation in Mississippi.

Mississippi reveals that the state now has about 50,000 acres of beaver water of one acre or more - about double or triple the empondments by beavers of a decade ago.
